

#330: Everyone's a Comedian

I have to admit, this one made me laugh. Of course, I'm not running around in that shop with smoke billowing up from a fire, looking for a way to put it out, either.

So let's just say, this is funny after you fill out the paperwork to acquire a new fire extinguisher and while you're waiting for it to arrive, or while you're trying to find out where the old one went.